$380,000 Yearling Makes Debut; Golden Receiver Returns

There haven’t been too many $380,000-plus yearling colt pacers sold—seven to be exact—but in Race 1 on Saturday night at the Meadowlands, the latest to join the exclusive group will make his long-awaited debut.

Well Said Stride, who will line up in post 3 in the first of two $17,500 divisions of the opening round of the William “Buddy” Gilmour Series, was sold as a yearling at the 2012 Harrisburg Sale for $380,000 to Emilio and Maria Rosati of Sydney, Australia. Bred by Hanover Shoe Farms, the son of Well Said was named Churchill Hanover when he went through the ring as the highest-priced yearling sold at auction that year.

Well Said Stride is out of the Hall of Fame mare Cathedra, who has already produced standouts Cathedra Dot Com, Cabrini Hanover, Western Shooter and The Preacher Pan.

Well Said Stride started in just three baby races last July, race-timed in 1:55.2 in his best effort.

“We went to the Meadowlands for his first qualifier and he was going to pace (1):54 and change and do it nicely and he made a little speed break,” Harder told Harness Racing Communications’ Ken Weingartner. “He kind of did something to himself behind and he was never the same after that. We tried to get him through it and it just didn’t work, so we quit with him and gave him the time.”

Well Said Stride returned earlier this month and now has a pair of qualifying attempts under his belt, finishing fourth and eighth (race-timed in 1:58.3 and 1:57.2, respectively). Tim Tetrick will get the drive on Saturday night.

“We’ve just sat him in for both his qualifiers and he had good pace in both of them,” said Harder. “He got shuffled out of the first and was stuck behind some horses in the second one.”

As for Harder’s expectations this year, he said, “He’s not a world-beater, but I think he’s still a very useful colt. We’ve got him staked to a lot.

“Mentally, he’s just playful and not really into it yet. But I think in a few starts, as with any young horse, he’ll hit his best stride.”

While Well Said Stride is making his first-ever appearance, the Harder-trained Golden Receiver will be making the 147th start of his illustrious career in Race 2, a $30,000 A1/FFA Handicap Pace. The start will be his first of the year.

“He’s going to be a year older and I still think older horses take a little more to get sharp, but he seems really good and healthy and happy and sound,” said Harder. “We’ll see what happens this year.”

Because of a lack of entries that resulted in the cancellation of the Presidential Series at the Meadowlands this year, Golden Receiver was denied a chance to become the first horse to three-peat in the series for older pacers.

As a result, the now 9-year-old gelding received an extra week of vacation time before returning to the racing wars, which he will do on Saturday night when he lines up with driver Corey Callahan in post 5 in the six-horse contest.

Golden Receiver embarks on his 2014 campaign off a third and first in a pair of qualifying events at the Meadowlands earlier this month. They were his first appearances on the racetrack since finishing second in a photo finish to Foiled Again in the $512,000 TVG FFA final on Nov. 30.

Included among Golden Receiver’s 58 career wins are a record 21 sub-1:50 victories, including a career-best 1:48 effort in a Presidential Series leg on Jan. 4, 2012, the fastest mile ever paced in January. Owned by Nina Simmonds and Our Horse Cents Stable, Golden Receiver has career earnings of $2,092,636.—By Gordon Waterstone

Although there are mares that conceive early in the breeding season and thus deliver foals in January and early February, the breeding season really doesn’t begin to heat up until after Feb. 15.

The past few days have brought announcements of stud books full and closed, as in the case of A Rocknroll Dance, and a few new stallions joining the stud ranks, most notably Guccio, who missed winning the 2012 Hambletonian by a mere neck. With the opening of the new Miami Valley track in Ohio earlier in the month and three harness tracks with video lottery terminals (VLTs) now in operation, everyone seems to be asking me how Ohio’s program is going to compare with other states when there are four harness tracks in the state operating VLTs.

As I mentioned in my coverage of the Ohio Harness Horsemen’s Association awards banquet a few weeks ago, Ohio State Racing Commission chairman Robert Schmitz told folks at the banquet that purses will be significantly better because purses for 2013 were based on “only one cow in the barn.” Bob’s example was meant to point out that until December 2013, Scioto Downs was the only harness track in the state with VLTs operating, and thus had only one cow in the barn producing any milk, i.e. revenue.

Bob is unusual for a racing commission chairman in that he has more than a casual knowledge of both racing and breeding. He owns a few broodmares, acquiring a couple of more last fall at Harrisburg, and experienced misfortune earlier this year when one of them became ill and died despite the best efforts of veterinarians at The Ohio State University.

Bob likes to check in on his horses and he showed up at Midland Acres in Ohio last week to see the first two mares bred to Pet Rock, Armbro Wichita and So Wanted. Bob shares ownership of both mares. Armbro Wichita had a yearling colt by Dragon Again sold for $62,000 last fall and So Wanted, a Real Desire half sister to Dancinwiththestarz 3, 1:48.4 ($918,605) is a maiden.

Last year 2,120 mares were bred in Ohio, and Midland’s Dr. John Mossbarger expects the number will be at least the same in 2014.

“The bottom line is breeding mares is costly, and I’m not sure we should be breeding many more mares,” said Dr. Mossbarger.

Bob’s book is full and closed at 140 mares. “If it wasn’t for Pet Rock, the phone wouldn’t be ringing off the wall,” added Dr. Mossbarger. “With that said, half of Pet Rock’s book is from out-of-state mares, since a $6,000 stud fee is a little steep for many Ohio breeders. Pet Rock and Dejaarmbro (who stands at Hickory Lane Farm) have obviously captured everyone’s attention since they both have full books. There are just so many studs in Ohio. But I think from Feb. 15 to March 15, there will be more mares booked in Ohio than before Feb. 15.” — By Kathy Parker
Red Mile Sees Court Ruling As Positive

On Thursday the Supreme Court of Kentucky ruled that the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission has the authority to license and regulate the operation of pari-mutuel wagering on historical horse races. In its ruling the Court specifically rejected an argument by The Family Foundation of Kentucky that historical horse racing falls outside the “statutorily-encumbered parameter of ‘legitimate horse racing.’” The court added, “…we find nothing in the statutes to suggest that a ‘legitimate’ horse race must be a ‘live horse race.’”

It was initially reported by media in Kentucky that the Supreme Court’s decision was a defeat for racetracks wanting to implement historical wagering, among them The Red Mile. However, The Red Mile’s attorneys, and others, saw the ruling as offering a clear decision on the legality of historical racing, said Red Mile president and CEO Joe Costa.

“We have had a meeting with our legal counsel and their conclusion is that this is a positive ruling,” Costa told harnessracing.com. “The single-most important issue was whether or not wagering on historical races in Kentucky is legal in a pari-mutuel format, and the court found that it is. We think it’s clear that it is pari-mutuel, and in fact these historical racing machines have been vetted. There is a wagering pool; people are not playing against the house.”

Wagering on historical races has been taking place at Kentucky Downs and Ellis Park and has earned millions for the purse accounts at those tracks, as well as for track operators. The Kentucky Horse Racing Commission has approved more than 18 separate historical racing gaming machines.

The Supreme Court also ruled that The Family Foundation has the right to question the legality of a game approved by the Kentucky Horse Racing Commission and should have been granted pre-trial discovery in a prior lawsuit which challenged the premise that historical horse racing was pari-mutuel wagering.

While Kentucky Downs and Ellis Park have been operating historical or “instant” racing machines, the other racetracks in the state—The Red Mile, Churchill Downs, Keeneland and Turfway Park—have waited for the courts to decide on the legality of historical racing before considering adding the machines.

It’s no secret the owners and management at The Red Mile have been exploring avenues to keep the track alive in today’s competitive gambling environment.

“We've been trying very hard to find ways for the institution to be kept not only alive but improved,” agreed Costa. “I'm very excited, and optimistic, and our board of directors will be meeting soon to discuss the opportunities this presents.”

KYSS Makes Change To Include Resident Mares

The Kentucky Horse Racing Commission (KHRC) announced Wednesday that, beginning with the 2014 breeding season, horses by resident mares will be eligible for the Kentucky Sires Stakes. The Kentucky Sires Stakes is a culmination of a month-long series of preliminary races, with the biggest money earners getting a chance to compete in one of the richest finals in North America. The Kentucky Sire Stakes is funded by the Kentucky Standardbred Development Fund (KSDF) and the Kentucky Standardbred Breeders’ Incentive Fund (KSBIF) which make up the advisory panel that oversees the nominations process.

Beginning with the 2014 breeding season, the offspring of any mare who is boarded in Kentucky for 180 consecutive days during the year of conception will be eligible to the Kentucky Sires Stakes program regardless of where the sire of her offspring stands.

For example, beginning with the breeding season of 2014 and thereafter, if a mare is bred to a stallion standing in Pennsylvania, as long as that mare is boarded in Kentucky for 180 consecutive days during the year of conception, her foal will be eligible to both the Kentucky Sires Stakes program and the Pennsylvania Sire Stakes program.

Obviously, any foal sired by a stallion standing in Kentucky for the entire breeding season will also be eligible to the Kentucky Sires Stakes program.

“The advisory panel recognized the need to grow participation, and along with the commission’s support, the regulation was amended to include resident mares,” said Alan Leavitt, chairman of the advisory panel and KHRC member.

“It’s an exciting new direction for the program and provides an opportunity for our horses to have dual eligibility in multiple programs in North America.”

The KSBIF was implemented in 2005 to ensure the strength and growth of the horse industry in Kentucky. The fund receives 13 percent of the 6 percent sales tax paid when breeding a stallion to a mare in the Commonwealth. The KSDF is funded, in part, by a pari-mutuel tax paid by racetracks in Kentucky. The KSBIF and the KSDF, along with any other money contributed, appropriated or allocated from all other sources, fund the Kentucky Sires Stakes. The Kentucky Sire Stakes is administered by the KHRC.

For more information, including a list of 2013 award winners and statistics on races awarded, visit http://khrc.ky.gov/ or contact Jamie Eads at (859) 246-2040 or Jamie.Eads@ky.gov. (KHRC)

Guccio Retired To Stud Duty In Indiana

The world champion and million-dollar winning trotter Guccio 4, 1:51.1f ($1,021,809) has been retired to stud duty at Victory Hill Farm, one of the leading farms in Indiana. He will stand for a fee of $5,000 for the 2014 breeding season and a limited number of shares in the stallion are available for purchase.

Trained by Hall of Famer Jimmy Takter, Guccio is a son of Yankee Glide and the $181,000 winner Southern Senorita. He showed talent early as a 2 year old, taking a mark of 1:55.4 as a freshman and winning the Champlain. He became one of the top contenders of his generation as a 3 year old and missed winning the $1.5 million Hambletonian by a mere neck. His 3-year-old record of 1:52.1 was earned via a victory in a Bluegrass division at The Red Mile and then as a 4 year old in 2013 he trotted to his personal best of 1:51.1f, establishing a new World Record for 4-year-old trotters.

“Guccio is a very classy and beautiful horse and one of my personal favorites,” said Takter. “He was an exceptional individual when we purchased him as a yearling and he proved to be everything we hoped for and more and we went back and bought his full brother last fall for over $100,000—he is a World Champion and a perfect racehorse in every way. It was our plan to race in Europe in 2014 had this opportunity for him to enter the stud not developed. Indiana clearly has one of the most attractive regional programs and we do plan to breed to Guccio as I believe he has every quality to become an outstanding trotting sire.”

For more information about purchasing shares, please contact Jeff Fought of Cornerstone Stock Farm at (260) 463-1649 or Bob Boni of Northwood Bloodstock Agency at (201) 863-2082. For booking information, contact Victory Hill Farm at (260) 463-2442.

A Rocknroll Dance’s Book Full And Closed

The 2014 book for first-year stallion A Rocknroll Dance is now full and closed, according to Diamond Creek Farm’s Adam Bowden.

A Rocknroll Dance p,2, 1:49.1; 3, 1:48.1f; 4, 1:47.2 ($2,429,441), a multiple world champion and winner of the Meadowlands Pace, stands at Diamond Creek of Pennsylvania for a stud fee of $6,000.

“I'd like to thank all who booked to him, from the first one to the last one,” Bowden said. “We believed in him as a racehorse and we believe in him now as he embarks on his next career.

“His book is filled with quality from top to bottom. We're breeding 19 of our own top mares to him, including three millionaires and two Dan Patch winners,” he added.

Included in that group is Diamond Creek's sparkling 2012 acquisition See You At Peelers p,2, 1:51.3f; 3, 1:49.2f

Top Filly Winky’s Goal Euthanized

Winky’s Goal 3, 1:54.4 ($944,924), who earned divisional titles in 1992 and 1993, died Friday night, Feb. 14, at Kentuckiana Farms in Georgetown, Ky. The 24-year-old daughter of Armbroro Goal-Winky’s Gill developed colic and was euthanized, said Kentuckiana farm manager Bob Brady.

“She was in with a group of five retired horses on the farm, and they were all doing well, including her, until she became ill,” said Brady. “She looked great and was in great shape.”

Trained by Chuck Sylvester, Winky’s Goal had periods of domination during her 2- and 3-year-old campaigns, including the Breeders Crown as a freshman and the Hambletonian Oaks the following season. She finished second in the Crown as a sophomore, losing to Expressway Hanover, who she had beaten in the Kentucky Filly Futurity.

Bred by Castleton Farm, Winky’s Goal was owned by Alle-vamento La Sbarra, which had bought her as a yearling, at the time of her passing. At one time she was co-owned by La Sbarra and Kentuckiana General Partnership.

As a broodmare Winky’s Goal’s fastest offspring was Biltmore 4, 1:53f, who took his mark in 2013 for trainer Ron Burke. — harnessracing.com

Illinois Board Turns Down Balmoral Request

The Illinois Harness Horsemen’s Association (IHHA) reported on its website Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 19, that a request by Balmoral Park to eliminate Wednesday racing was turned down by the Illinois Racing Board (IRB) by a vote of 9-0 earlier in the day. The IHHA opposed the elimination of Wednesday racing while it continues to negotiate a contract with the Johnson family, which operates Balmoral and Maywood racetracks.

IHHA president Dave McCaffrey also reported the IHHA, IRB and the racetracks met Tuesday, Feb. 18, to discuss the contract stalemate that has precluded any racing thus far in 2014 at Balmoral or Maywood Park.

USHWA’s Silent Auction Items Up For Bids

Would you like to own Yannick Gingras’s helmet and colors, personally autographed to you? Or perhaps Bill Haughton’s trainer trophy clock from winning the $2 million Woodrow Wilson Pace with Nihilator? Maybe a Mary Lou Dondarski original painting of the trotter Bee A Magician or the pacer Captaintreacherous?

These items and many more are all up for grabs in the U.S. Harness Writers Association silent and live auction at the Dan Patch Awards dinner at Dover Downs on Sunday night, Feb. 23.

But you don’t have to be there to be a winner! You can call in your bids now for all of the items in the auction. And best of all is that all proceeds go directly to the Harness Horse Youth Foundation and USHWA.

All you have to do is call any of these numbers for detailed information; (954) 654-3757; (732) 306-6713; (317) 908-0029 or (732) 547-9459. You can place your bid order on any or all of the auction items. You will be able to bid via telephone up until 7 p.m. on Sunday, Feb. 23.

Most of the items can be seen on the internet at http://www.ushwa.org/.

Here are all the items that are in the live and silent auction:
- Yannick Gingras colors and helmet (personalized by Yannick)

Lebanon Official Accused Of Embezzling $111,000

The Dayton Daily News is reporting that Susan L. Wilson, formerly the vice president of racing and simulcasting at Lebanon Raceway, has been charged with embezzling $111,943 from the Lebanon Trotting Club and the Miami Valley Trotting Club, which operated the meets at the track.

According to the report, Wilson, 48, was indicted on two counts of grand theft and two counts of unauthorized use of property. It is alleged she embezzled the money by writing 119 checks made out to horse owners and then cashing them, including forging her husband’s signature.

The funds were allegedly embezzled from October 2010 to December 2012, with the discrepancy discovered midway through 2013 during accounting that was done prior to the sale of Lebanon Raceway to Churchill Downs Inc. and Delaware North.
