PASS 3YO Pacing Colt Final A Jug Preview Too

The Pennsylvania Sires Stakes (PASS) championships are on the weekend racing agenda, with 3 year olds competing at The Meadows Friday night and 2 year olds in action at Harrah's Philadelphia on Sunday afternoon (races 9, 10, 11, 12). Purses for each division are $260,000.

The championship for 3-year-old pacing colts will also likely be a "Jug Preview" since the field includes six Little Brown Jug eligibles. Although he is not headed for the Jug, Captaintreacherous, who is by Pennsylvania stallion Some-beachsomewhere, did not compete in enough PASS races to earn enough points to make the final.

Among the contenders is 5-2 morning line favorite Twilight Bonfire. Trained by Danny Collins, Twilight Bonfire will start from post 4 and have John Campbell in the sulky. He comes into the PASS championship after a fifth-place finish in the Cane Pace.

"He's very good right now," said Collins of the son of The Panderosa bred and owned by Robert Key. "The week before the Cane he was really sick, so we took him into the race as sharp as we could, but he came out of it even better."

Twilight Bonfire is the fifth richest 3-year-old pacing colt this season with $423,641 in earnings. More than half of it came via his second-place finish to Captaintreacherous in the North America Cup at odds of 96-1.

Collins said he'll see how his horse races, and feels after the PASS championship, before making a decision about a start in the Jug.

"There are only six days before the Jug, but it has worked out that we get to race close to home and then the Jug is in our own backyard," said Collins, who is stabled at Scioto Downs. "We'll come back home after the race and if all goes well he'll be at Delaware Monday and I'll decide if he needs any more work before the Jug."

The second morning line choice in the PASS for 3-year-old pacing colts, at odds of 7-2, is NetTen EOM, a blue-blooded son of Somebeachsomewhere and 2004 Jugette champion Glowing Report. Marvin Rounick campaigned Glowing Report and bred and owns NetTen EOM, who has a mark of 1:49.2 and earnings of $100,876.

"I'm very optimistic about the race," said NetTen EOM's trainer, Richard Silverman. "I think it is a well-matched group. My horse is good, he's sound and we drew well, so it's about the trip, and if my horse shows up he'll be right there."

NetTen EOM is not eligible to the Little Brown Jug.

"He had a soft-tissue injury with a leg last year and we had to shut him down, so it didn't seem like a good idea for him to race heats and we didn't keep him eligible," explained Silverman. "Any time you deal with an injury, especially with the speed horses go today, it's something you keep in mind when you manage a horse's racing schedule."

The Burke Stable's Dedi's Dragon, who is Jug eligible, is the 9-2 third choice on the morning line. A longer shot, but perhaps strong contender, is Lonewolf Currier, who won an elimination for the Adios at The Meadows in 1:48.4 back on July 20. The son of The Panderosa finished fourth in the Adios final, but has struggled since then.

"He's been battling sickness for over a month," said Kevin McDermott, who trains Lonewolf Currier for owner Fran Azur. "We finally did a trach wash after his last race at Harrah's Philadelphia (Sept. 2, when he was the pacer setter but finished last) and the vet said his airway was inflamed and compared it to someone with COPD, so that's been stopping him. The vet treated him and I trained him in 1:55 last Saturday and we scoped him afterward and for the first time in a month he scoped totally clean."

McDermott says he is cautiously optimistic about Lonewolf Currier's chances Friday night at The Meadows. "The rail (post 1) is not the best place to be there, but there's no pressure like the Adios; I'll let David (Palone) play it out and hopefully we'll have a shot."

And is a Jug start possible? "It all comes down to how he races and how he comes out of the race," said McDermott. "He's good on a half-mile track—remember, he came a quarter in :26.1 at Yonkers (in the Rooney)." — By Kathy Parker

Jones Is Looking For Some Late-Season Wheeling N Dealin

A year ago this weekend Wheeling N Dealin won the William Wellwood Memorial final for 2-year-old colt trotters at Mohawk Racetrack as the odds-on favorite, his seventh consecutive win in as many starts.

Wheeling N Dealin went on to finish his freshman season with victories in the Breeders Crown elims and final, ending the campaign a perfect nine-for-nine with $696,112 in earnings and divisional honors in both Canada and the U.S. (despite never setting foot outside his home country as the Breeders Crown was held at Woodbine).

One year later, Wheeling N Dealin makes a return appearance on the same stakes-filled card, this time starting from post 1 in the $686,000 Canadian Trotting Classic final, scheduled as Race 8, Saturday night. But unlike 2012, Wheeling N Dealin comes into the race winless in seven starts this year with just $50,976 in earnings for owner Ecurie Synergie.

“Nobody is talking about him now because he hasn’t done well,” said Ontario-based trainer Dustin Jones. “The pressure is really off. Whatever he does will be a bonus. I think he is going to go a good race because he seems back in the barn again. Maybe now that fall is here, he’ll have a good fall.”

Wheeling N Dealin has shown glimpses of life this year—he finished a strong second in a 3-year-old Open at the Meadowlands that was followed up by a second-place finish in his Hambletonian elimination as the betting favorite—but for the most part it’s been a lackluster sophomore campaign for the son of Cantab Hall.

Jones said the colt earlier had an ulcer on his palate, and he also added Lasix for Wheeling N Dealin’s last start in the Sept. 7 Canadian Trotting Classic eliminations, which came three weeks after a fourth-place finish in a Colonial consolation at Pocono Downs. Driven by Sylvain Filion, Wheeling N Dealin rallied from seventh at the half to finish third, 1 ¾ lengths behind Master Of Law.

“We did a lung wash on him after Pocono, and he showed allergies and signs of bleeding we couldn’t pick up with a scope,” Jones explained of the addition of Lasix. “He raced pretty good last week after not racing for three weeks, and we’re hoping he races even better this week. At least we have a good position to work with.

“(Filion) can do whatever he wants leaving. I imagine there will be a lot of speed and we don’t really want to be into that. He should be able to work out a real good trip. When (Filion) got off the bike last week he said that was the best race he’s raced this year; he said he trotted right to the wire and didn’t lose any ground.”

Jones added that Wheeling N Dealin is headed next to The Red Mile and then on to Pocono Downs for the Breeders Crown. However, the trainer noted that he expects to race the trotter in the Bluegrass on Sept. 29 and then miss the double-heat Kentucky Futurity on Oct. 6 in lieu of a late-closer the day before on Saturday.

“Being on Lasix, I don’t know if you want to race heats,” Jones explained. “I don’t think he’ll race in the Futurity because then it’ll be six days back to the Breeders Crown (eliminations on Oct. 12). He’s paid into a late-closer for 3 year olds on Saturday. It’s only $10,000, but it’ll give him a race before going to Pocono.” — By Gordon Waterstone

Harper Blue Chip Improving For Wellwood

Harper Blue Chip might not be as speedy as his father, former trotting star Majestic Son, at this stage of his career, but trainer Mark Steacy thinks he could become one of his majestic sons.

The 2-year-old Harper Blue Chip is among the 10 finalists in Saturday's $365,000 William Wellwood Memorial at Mohawk Racetrack. The colt has won three of six races this season, including his most recent two. Last weekend he won his Wellwood elimination in 1:56.1 and on Aug. 30 he won a division of the Champlain Stakes in 1:56.

Harper Blue Chip and driver Sylvain Filion will start the Wellwood from post 3. Once-beaten favorite Father Patrick, who won his elim in 1:55.3 from post 10, starts from post 4 with Yannick Gingras driving for trainer Jimmy Takter.

"He's had a good week so far," said the Ontario-based Steacy, who owns Harper Blue Chip with Landmark 6 Racing Stable, David McDonald and David Reid. "One thing about him, he's always full of himself. He's a good-feeling horse and seems to enjoy life.

"Father Patrick is one talented horse. Unless he makes some kind of mistake, he looks pretty much unbeatable. But it's a horse race and anything can happen. The way my horse has been getting better and better every week, I'm hoping we're not at the bottom of the well with ours. If we get a good trip anything can happen."

Steacy trained Majestic Son, who was Canada's Horse of the Year in 2006. Harper Blue Chip's mother, Winning Jonlin, produced stakes-winners Medusa Blue Chip and Vibe Blue Chip and is a full-sister to stakes-winner Myolin. The family also includes two-time Horse of the Year honoree Mack Lobell and Hambletonian champion American Winner. Harper Blue Chip sold for $40,000 at the Standardbred Horse Sale.

"He had fairly decent conformation," Steacy said. "He might have been just a little bit toe-out, but nothing drastic. I don't mind that on a trotter anyway. He had a nice rear end on him and a good shoulder and I really liked that. I could see similarities in a few respects to what his father had.

"I thought this one was probably bred better than most Majestic Sons on the mother's side. That's what Majestic Son has always lacked; he's never bred these kinds of mares before. The ones I've had have all been decent horses with lesser pedigree. I figured this one has got a little more pedigree and a little more body to work with, so maybe he could be OK. After that you've just got to get lucky."

Steacy saw other similarities between Harper Blue Chip and Majestic Son.

"They're both very smart horses," Steacy said. "Majestic Son was just a little more than ordinary training to get to the races, but he always did it right. Just as Majestic Son did, this guy seems to be getting better with every start. I think Majestic Son showed just a little more raw speed than this one does at this point.

"(Harper Blue Chip) was good gaited and didn't make very many mistakes at all. He didn't show any big speed training down, he was just kind of the same quarters all the time; nothing flashy. But after he got started to race, the speed started to come. And it's coming a little bit more with each start. You like to see a little go to them, but with a young trotter at that point I'm just as concerned about seeing a good gait."

Steady brought Harper Blue Chip along slowly and gave him his first three starts in the Ontario Sires Stakes Grassroots Series. He didn't face open stakes company until the Champlain.

"That's kind of my policy; I try to give them as many easy starts before I start getting in against tougher competition," Steady said. "I always believe they're a better horse if you can get a couple easy starts into them, get them brave and make them think that they're good." (HRC)

Daley Has High Hopes For Odds On Amethyst

Most 2-year-old trotting colts don't show both speed and racing aptitude as quickly as Father Patrick, a winner of six of seven starts, including the Peter Haughton Memorial Trot, and the 4-5 morning line favorite in the $365,000 William Wellwood Memorial final Saturday night at Mohawk Racetrack.

Odds On Amethyst, bred by Dana Parham and Robin Schadt's Odds On Nourrir and owned by Odds On Racing, is one youngster who is still working on becoming a racehorse. A son of Muscle Hill and the top trotting mare Mystical Sunshine, Odds On Amethyst was bred for speed and has shown it, but has made only three starts, with one win, when he took a mark of 1:57.3.

"He's green. He doesn't really know how to race yet," said trainer Dan Daley of the horse who is still programmed as a colt but is a gelding. "He's coming into the Wellwood very good. He's sharp, and I couldn't have been happier with his race in the elimination. He was in a bad spot, got squeezed, stayed trotting and charged home. The race before that at Tioga I hit the three-quarters with him in 1:25, and at the top of the stretch he kind of pulled up. It was like he was thinking, 'I guess we're all done.'"

Daley watched Odds On Amethyst train down all winter at the South Florida Trotting Center, where trainer Schadt was wintering with the Odds On Racing stable. When Schadt wanted to get Odds On Amethyst some seasoning at Vernon Downs, she sent him to Daley.

"I never have this kind of breeding in my barn," noted Daley. "I really wanted to race him in the Wellwood, because I really think he is a wolf. I think he can be a top horse, and he needs to race with them."

Odds On Amethyst will start from post 7 in the Wellwood — an improvement from his post 9 in the Wellwood elim — with Daley driving. — By Kathy Parker

Royalty For Life Looks To Rebound In Trotting Classic

After finishing second in his elimination, Royalty For Life will look for a rebound effort in the 38th edition of the prestigious $686,000 Canadian Trotting Classic final on Saturday at Mohawk.

The Hambletonian champion, who was sent off as the heavy favorite in the elim with driver Brian Sears, finished 1 1/4 lengths behind Your So Vain, individually timed in 1:53.

"He raced fine in my opinion, but he was fighting a sickness the entire week before the elimination, so I'm sure he wasn't one hundred percent," said trainer George Ducharme, who is stabled at Vernon Downs in New York.

"We're fortunate enough to get post 6 in the final, which is a relief. That's a good spot for him."

The son of RC Royalty remains atop his division this season with $884,850 banked along with a 5-2-0 record from 10 starts.

"This is the best horse I've ever had and he's a joy to be around. I've been in this game over 30 years, straight out of high school, and he's just a dream," said Ducharme. "He's a once-in-a-lifetime horse, especially for a small-time guy like me. It's been a thrilling season, one I'll never forget, and hopefully it continues."

The strapping trotter has been quickest to the lead in six of 10 starts this season.

"I think he's good on the lead," Ducharme said. "When he sees a horse, he'll swell up and fight them. He's only been on a helmet a few times, but I think he's at his best when he's out on the front.

"He's a big, rugged colt with lots of leg and a lot of presence. He's got a great attitude and comes out of his races feeling good. He's a playful colt and good to be around. To be able to compete at this level is pretty amazing."

Bred and owned by Alfred Ross along with Raymond "Chip" Campbell and Paul Fontaine, Royalty For Life, who boasts a 1:51.3 mark, has earned $1,217,231 in his career. (WEG)

Danica Hall Races Into Peaceful Way

Earlier this season, trainer Doug McIntosh didn't truly know the kind of quality his Peaceful Way starter, Danica Hall, possessed. But after just six starts, it's clear to most she could be any kind. The 2-year-old trotting filly by Dewey-cheatumnhowe-Debbie Hall has banked $108,923 this year along with a 3-0-2 record. Also, she's a top contender for the $374,000 Peaceful Way final on Saturday at Mohawk, thanks to her elimination victory in 1:57.3 for regular driver Trevor Ritchie.

"She's coming into the race in good shape," trainer Doug McIntosh said. "I have a lot of respect for a lot of fillies in this race; there are some good ones in there. One thing I've learned is to never underestimate your competition."

Danica Hall has made her presence felt since arriving in the McIntosh barn earlier this summer. "She went through the sale last year, but Walnut Hall bought her back for $14,000," McIntosh said. "She was trained in Florida by Fred Grant and then he sent her up to me not long before she qualified."

McIntosh recalled his first impressions of Danica Hall when she arrived at his Wheatley, Ontario farm. "When she came up and arrived off the truck, I immediately liked her," he said. "She's quite a striking filly to look at. She's a good size, not overly big, and extremely well proportioned. At first glance, I really liked her."

Soon after it was time for Danica Hall to make her first charted line of her career.

"When we qualified her, she did everything right," he said. "It was kind of new to us, because she arrived off the track and qualified soon after. It was more of a new experience, because she was new to the barn and I just went by what Fred told me."

"We've been friends for years and he had her set up perfectly," McIntosh continued. "I barely had to make any changes to her. It was just a few small things to adapt to the tracks up here."

Throughout Danica Hall's six starts, McIntosh has noticed a difference in his young trotter. "I think she's getting better and stronger, which is kind of unusual because these fillies have had a tough schedule this season," he said. "She can maintain her speed pretty good. She's not a sprinter, but she holds her speed well, closes well and has a flawless gait to her."

"She's got a nice big rear-end on her, good shoulder and put together, very, very well," McIntosh added. "There's nothing really not to like about her." (WEG)

Zeron Ready For I Jasmin To Start Jammin'

Rick Zeron expects a strong performance from I Jasmin in Saturday's $374,000 Peaceful Way Stakes for 2-year-old filly trotters at Mohawk Racetrack, but believes the best is yet to come.

"You're going to hear a lot from her—and if everything goes well over the winter—you're going to hear more about her next year," Zeron said. "You're going to hear a lot more."

Zeron has trained I Jasmin for nearly two months and drove the filly in her first three races. On Thursday, Sept. 5, with Zeron's son Scott at the lines, I Jasmin was one of three Peaceful Way elimination winners, along with Danica Hall and

"I think if everything goes well we could turn the page and get our picture taken."

— Rick Zeron

Grammas Girl, capturing her division by one length over Reflection Hanover in 1:57.1.

It was I Jasmin's first victory in four starts, although with a little luck the daughter of Muscle Mass-Orillia Seelster might have visited the winner's circle a week earlier. On Aug. 29 in a division of the Champlain Stakes at Mohawk, the elder Zeron and I Jasmin were trapped in traffic and unable to find room until late in the race. I Jasmin trotted home in :27.2, but finished third behind Riveting Rosie and Scream And Shout in a 1:55.3 mile.

"Unfortunately I didn't get what I wanted in the Champlain, but she still raced extremely well for me, which I was quite happy with," Zeron said. "I got jammed up, but she was huge at the end. I just couldn't get going to where I wanted to go, but she was huge for me."

"Scott had seen that, so he knew what kind of horse we had going into this (elimination)."

I Jasmin is owned by British Columbia's Ming Siu, who bred the filly with Yves Blouin. I Jasmin qualified once for Siu in June, but went offstride. She was sent to Zeron, and after enduring some growing pains, was ready for action in August.

"She was a little on the hot side when I first got her and had a few issues bothering her, but we've got that all taken care of," Zeron said. "I told the owner I had to be a little more careful with her to make sure everything was OK so we could get our job done. She's 2 years old, she's a filly, she gets excited. She just wants to get everything done quickly and then call it a day."

"We've got that calmed down and harnessed the power. I know exactly how fast she can go and when she can go. She just does everything I ask her to. And she does everything perfectly."

Scott Zeron, who was driving I Jasmin because Rick Zeron was at Vernon Downs, will be at the lines again in the Peaceful Way final.

"I think she's going to give Scott a really good drive on Saturday," said Rick Zeron. "She's on point; she's peaking at the right time. I think if everything goes well we could turn the page and get our picture taken. I'm looking for big things from her coming into this week." (HRC)

End Of An Era At Raceway Park

Sunday night will mark an end of an era in Toledo, Ohio, as Raceway Park will race its final live program. The racetrack was purchased in 2005 by Penn National Gaming, which transferred the license to a new facility scheduled to open next year.

Post time on Sunday is 6 p.m., with free parking and admission and concession specials. The track has invited several guest announcers and scheduled to attend are Steve Cross, Sam McKee, John Pawlak, Ayers Ratliff and Ron Sobczack. Also, one fan will win a casino getaway to the M Resort in Las Vegas.

Originally a car track when first built in the early 1950s, the site was converted to a five-eighths mile Thoroughbred track in 1959 and then in 1962 the first-ever harness race was held.

Mack Lobell, Rambling Willie and Shady Daisy are just three of the many champions who raced at Raceway Park over the years, as did renowned horsemen such as Doug Ackerman, Carl Allen, Chris Boring and Chuck Sylvester.

The great trotter Mack Lobell made a late-September 1988 stop at Raceway Park where he set a new track record of 1:57 with John Campbell driving.

Illinois Super Night Set For Balmoral

Illinois will have its championship night for Illini-breds on Saturday night at Balmoral Park, post time 6:30 p.m., and the program includes the state's stars this season.

In Race 2, King Mufasa, a winner of 11 of 12 races this year, will try to capture the $124,000 Su Mac Lad Trot for 3-year-old colts and geldings. King Mufasa will start from the rail and is 3-2 on the morning line.

In Race 11, the $174,000 Grandma Ann for 3-year-old pacing fillies, a battle looks likely to take place between Dallas Jones (post 1), the fastest of the group with a mark of 1:51.2, Mystical Danica (post 2) and Auniqueaquistion (post 10), a winner of 8 of 13 starts this year.

The finale of the big card is the $200,000 Orange and Blue for 2-year-old pacing colts and the race features PQThree p,2, 1:50, who will start from post 7 for trainer Erv Miller. Mike Oosting will drive the son of Yankee Skyscraper.

Jug Start Ruled Out For Trio Of Stars

In a matter of five days, the Little Brown Jug took a hit when the connections of top contenders Captaintreacherous, Sunshine Beach and Mach It So announced their colts would not be entered in the second jewel of pacing's Triple Crown on Thursday, Sept. 19, at the Delaware, Ohio fairgrounds.

"The reason is scheduling," Myron Bell of the Captaintreacherous Stable explained to harnessracing.com. "We're pointing to Lexington, the Breeders Crown, which we didn't win last year, and his 4-year-old year. This colt has to race as a 4 year old according to the rules of the Hambletonian Society. That is one of the reasons we want to race as minimum as possible this year without jeopardizing his career.

"I know and love the Jug tradition but we can't make every dance. We're just trying to do the right thing by the horse," Bell added.

Mach It So, whose eight wins include four on the Ontario Sires Stakes circuit and Canadian Breeders Championship final, will remain in Canada.

"No, he's not going to Delaware," P.J. Fraley, who trains Mach It So in the U.S. while Nifty Norman handles the duties in Canada, told harnessracing.com. "They're keeping him brave up there in Canada. He has the Super Final in a couple weeks (on Sept. 28) and that goes for a lot of money."

Sunshine Beach handed Captaintreacherous his only loss this year with a world-record-equaling 1:47.4 mile in the Battle of the Brandywine on Aug. 17 at Pocono Downs.

"We thought hard about it because we really wanted to go," Steacy told Ken Weingartner of Harness Racing Communications. "We just felt it was too much for him. I wouldn't say he's been sick, but his blood has been a little low the last week or two; I think he was just a little anemic for the last two races.

"I just don't think I can get him healthy enough to race in the Jug and then Lexington and the Breeders Crown. I'd like to win the Little Brown Jug as much as anybody, but we have to put the horse before ourselves. Something had to give and I thought I'd take an extra week to make sure he's real healthy for Lexington."

While trainer Tony Alagna is keeping Captaintreacherous home for the Jug, he still may have three entries in Emeritus Maximus, Wake Up Peter and Odds On Equuleus, the latter only entering his barn two weeks ago. The latter two raced in a qualifier on Sept. 12 at The Red Mile, with Odds On Equuleus—with Alagna driving—romping to a 33-length win in 1:50.1. Wake Up Peter had sat second to his pacesetting stablemate through three-quarters but then suddenly went offstride.

Driver Mike Lachance said afterward he didn't have any explanation for Wake Up Peter's stretch mistake. Alagna said he expects to enter both Wake Up Peter and Emeritus Maximus to the Jug, but said a decision on Odds On Equuleus—who had been battling sickness—will be made after he talks to trainer Robin Schadt, who sent the pacer to him after he had gone winless in eight starts this year.

Plainville Voters Approve Slots At Plainridge

Voters in Plainville, Mass., on Tuesday, Sept. 10, overwhelmingly approved slot machines at Plainridge Racecourse.

Penn National Gaming recently reached an agreement to purchase Plainridge when the owners were denied in their bid to receive a gaming license from the Massachusetts Gaming Commission because of financial mismanagement in light of allegations that former racetrack president Gary Piontkowski took approximately $1.4 million from the track's money room without any repayment.

An agreement between Plainridge and Plainville's selectmen that promised $4 million a year to the town in taxes and fees has been transferred to Penn National Gaming. The Gaming Commission could vote as early as next week on the viability of Penn National as an applicant for the sole slots license in the state.

Manzi, Gregory Hurt In Freehold Race Accident

Hall of Fame driver Cat Manzi, 63, who suffered a fractured pelvis in a racing accident at Freehold Raceway on Sept. 6, was released from Jersey Shore University Medical Center in Neptune on Wednesday and moved to an acute rehab facility in Brick, N.J.

According to Ellen Manzi, Cat's wife, he suffered four fractures of his pelvis. "Three of them are on the left side; one of them involves his hip," she said.

Jeff Gregory, 47, who was also in the multi-horse pileup, was released from Freehold's CentraState Medical Center on Sunday. He shattered his left elbow and underwent surgery the day of the spill. He is home in East Windsor, N.J., recuperating.

"Cat is now able to respond to phone calls and text messages, but will not have much time for visitors while he is in rehab," said Ellen Manzi. (SBOANJ)

Pre-Jug Party Includes Auction With Sulkies

The annual charity auction to benefit New Vocations Racehorse Adoption Program and the Delaware County Fair will be held Wednesday, Sept. 18, in conjunction with the Pre-Jug Party immediately following the Jugette.

UFO and Spyder have each donated a new race bike, Pennsbury a new jog cart, and Nitro a set of wheels. Cool Winds Farm has donated a mint condition white surrey with a red fringe on top. Tim Tetrick and Scott Zeron have each donated a set of their colors. Also included are an Antigua vacation for six, a Swamp Trip for eight, a restored 1800' high wheel cart and OSU football tickets. In addition there are dozens of pieces original art and signed prints, sports memorabilia, unique home accessories, jewelry, and tack.

Want to come to the party or just support these two great organizations? All major contributors receive invitations. FMI contact Dot Morgan (937) 947-4020 dot@horseadoption.com or Winnie Nemeth (734) 320-7918 winnie@horseadoption.com.

Radio Coverage Set For Jug Week

Delaware radio station WINF (98.5-FM) and Marysville radio station WQTT (1270-AM) will broadcast all of the harness races from the Delaware County Fair, Sept. 15-19 concluding with Thursday's 68th Little Brown Jug. The broadcast will be streamed online on the worldwide web at www.985winf.com and www.qt1270.com for listeners around the world.

The broadcasts include the live call of each race from the track announcers, interviews, handicapping analysis of each race, updated odds and complete mutuel results. Airtime begins 30 minutes before each day's post time. There will be no racing on Monday, Sept. 16. Hosting the broadcasts will be Don Berman and Hall of Famer Dean Hoffman. (LBJ)

Chantal Sutherland Knows Harness Racing

When Chantal Sutherland-Kruse comes to The Meadows on Sept. 23, her attempt to break a North American under saddle record will last less than two minutes. However, the event, sponsored by the Meadows Standardbred Owners Association, has truly been a lifetime in the making.

Chantal will attempt to set a new North American record for trotters under saddle on a five-eighths mile track. DW's NYYank, a winner in 1:52 at Pocono Downs on Sept. 7, will join her for the time trial. The goal is to beat 1:59.2.

While the actress and model is best known for her achievements as a Thoroughbred jockey, her early years were spent on a farm in Ontario, with Standardbreds.

Things began to roll when Chantal's father, Hugh Sutherland, was introduced to Ohio-based trainer Garry Martin.

"I was racing in the North America Cup with a horse named SetTheTrap," recalled Martin. "He didn't race well in the elimination but still qualified for the final. I had a local vet check him over that week, and the vet happened to be neighbors with Hugh, so he introduced us. Hugh had a few horses at the time and started sending them to me to race at The Meadows."

Sutherland said, "I bought some cheap horses, $2,500 claimers. I'd send some to Garry, then I'd buy one and train it on the farm myself with the kids, and we went to the tracks up here."

While the better horses would end up at The Meadows with Martin, the Sutherlands raced around the smaller tracks in Ontario with the lesser stock.

Since he had room at his farm, Sutherland decided to branch out and bought a Standardbred broodmare named Sure Schatzie. She produced Sure Cam, who earned more than $300,000.

Both Hugh Sutherland and Martin plan to be there for the record attempt, and both men have advice for Sutherland-Kruse. "I hope she warms the horse up herself before the mile," said her father. "She needs to know what his gait is like."

Added Martin, "She's used to Thoroughbred racing on a mile track. I think I'll have to remind her it's a five-eighths mile track. 'Chantal, it's THREE turns.'" (By Jeff Zidek for Meadows Standardbred Owners Association)

Clear Vision Tabbed 2-1 Favorite In Quillen Final

Foiled Again's bid for a third Bobby Quillen Memorial title at Harrington Raceway just got a little tougher.

The 9-year-old champion pacer drew post 8 for the seventh annual $223,500 Bobby Quillen Memorial final to be held on Monday, Sept. 16. The Dragon Again gelding had an auspicious return to Delaware and registered his 71st career win in his elimination with a 1:49.4 score.

Foiled Again (Yannick Gingras), the richest pacer of all-time with winnings in excess of $5.3 million, had his elimination win trumped only by his stablemate Clear Vision, who left flames over the Harrington half-mile oval with a track record-equaling 1:49.2 victory in his division.

The Quillen will go postward as the 10th race on a 13-race program that will feature a $7,500 guaranteed pick four pool.

Here is the field for the Quillen Memorial:

Post—Horse	Odds
1—Mel Mara (Corey Callahan)	5-1
2—Sapphire City (Ross Wolfenden)	6-1
3—Clear Vision (Brett Miller)	2-1
4—McErlean (Jim Morand)	8-1
5—Dynamic Youth (Ron Pierce)	10-1
6—Heston Blue Chip (Tim Tetrick)	4-1
7—Escape The News (Matt Kakaley)	12-1
8—Foiled Again (Yannick Gingras)	5-2
