Hannelore Hanover Returns To Defend Centaur Trotting Classic Title

The Grand Circuit swings into Hoosier Park Racing & Casino Friday night and there is no shortage of star power on the 14-race program. With the Breeders Crown just over a month away, the evening of stakes action serves as a preview of some of the top horses that will converge on central Indiana in late October. A total of $1.4 million in purses will be up for grabs over a mix of seven stakes for trotters and pacers.

While there are many compelling storylines across the card, this year’s edition of the Centaur Trotting Classic for free-for-all trotters features the return of champion Hannelore Hanover. The 5-year-old Swan For All-High Sobriety mare is no stranger to the Hoosier Park winner’s circle, but her most significant triumph over the Anderson oval came in last year’s Centaur Trotting Classic. As a 4 year old the Ron Burke trainee beat the boys at Hoosier Park on her way to earning a Dan Patch award as the sport’s top older trotting mare.

This year Hannelore Hanover will look to repeat the feat against a field of top-rated trotters. Owned by Burke Racing Stable, Weaver Bruscemi LLC, Frank Baldachino and J&T Silva Stables, the veteran has drawn post six in the field of 10 and will be guided by regular driver Yannick Gingras. She enters the contest fresh off a dominating performance in the $486,260 Maple Leaf Trot at Mohawk, where she cruised to a four-length score in 1:51.1. The Indiana-sired mare is less than $50,000 away from double millionaire status and has won six of 10 seasonal starts.

The 2017 renewal of the Centaur Trotting Classic carries a purse of $240,000, sweetened by supplemental entries Cufflink Hanover and I Know My Chip. Cufflink Hanover, runner-up earlier this season in the Hambletonian Maternity, has drawn the rail for trainer John Butenschoen. In his last start, the Andover Hall gelding finished second to Resolve in the $170,000 Crawford Farms Open Trot at Tioga Downs. Corey Callahan is slated to drive. I Know My Chip, a multiple winner in Hoosier Park’s invitational trot, starts on the outside for trainer Walter Haynes Jr. Sam Widger will be in the bike.

Besides Hannelore Hanover, the event boasts two other millionaires in JL Cruze, drawing post 2, and Natural Herbie, who lines up in post 8. In his last trip behind the starting gate, JL Cruze trotted second to Hannelore Hanover in the Maple Leaf final. Natural Herbie enters the race off a 1:52.1 score Sept. 16 at Hoosier Park for trainer-driver Verlin Yoder.

Centrion ATM has drawn post 10 and will start in the second tier for trainer Ake Svanstedt. The SJ’s Caviar 5 year old, twice a winner in 2017, will be driven by Aaron Merriman. Other notable entries include Homicide Hunter, fifth for trainer Chris Oakes in the Maple Leaf final, and Rose Run Parker, the other half of the Burke entry.— By James Platz

Starting Later Has Worked Out Fine For Stay Hungry

Two of the most inexperienced colts in the eliminations for the Metro may be using the race to step to the head of the 2-year-old pacing colt division.

Stay Hungry, who went into the Metro with just two pari-mutuel starts and a couple of qualifiers of experience, won a Metro elim by a neck in 1:50.2. The colt he edged was Lost In Time, who also had only a couple of starts for experience going into the Metro elim.

“He can race on front or behind... he’s just a very nice horse.”
—Tony Alagna about Stay Hungry

Tony Alagna trains Stay Hungry, a colt by Somebeachsomewhere out of My Little Dragon, for owners Brad Grant and Irwin Samuel. The colt cost them $150,000 as a yearling.

“He wasn’t quite ready to go, so I decided I wasn’t going to spend the time to baby race him in New Jersey if he wasn’t ready,” said Alagna of the delay for Stay Hungry. “When he won his first two qualifiers (Aug. 11 and Aug. 18 at Mohawk) and then his first race, I told Brad we should try him in the Champlain and we would race him like a horse who didn’t have much experience. So we raced him from off the pace and he won and finished strong (1:52.1 victory).”

Alagna said one reason he liked Stay Hungry as a yearling was his experience with the colt’s older brother, Odds On Delray, who took his mark of 1:51.2 winning last year’s Metro consolation.

“I bought this one (Stay Hungry) because the mare was a really good horse and she’s supposed to have a good one,” said Alagna.

Stay Hungry is the fourth foal of the $2.3 million winner My Little Dragon.

Alagna has a second entry in the $816,000 Metro final in Odds On Lauderdale, who will start from post 8. He started a third colt in the eliminations, Babes Dig Me, who finished seventh and failed to advance. That colt was controlling the pace in the third Metro elim but faded in the stretch drive. Alagna said Babes Dig Me scoped sick after the race.

Alagna said while Stay Hungry has been racing off the pace and finishing big to win, he believes he is versatile.

“He can race on front or behind, and he doesn’t wear ear plugs,” said Alagna. “He’s just a very nice horse.” —By Kathy Parker

Come See The Show Ready To Rebound In She’s A Great Lady

Come See The Show will be attempting to follow her dam, the $2.4 million winner Put On A Show, and win the She’s A Great Lady. Come See The Show will start from post 4 in the $500,000 She’s A Great Lady on Saturday at Mohawk.

No eliminations were needed for the She’s A Great Lady, so the race will be the first start for Come See The Show since she made a mistake in the $252,000 Pennsylvania Sires Stakes championship on Sept. 4 at Harrah’s Philadelphia. Come See The Show’s regular driver, Tim Tetrick, pulled the filly to the outside from post four in the PA race and the filly was just beginning to mount a challenge when she broke stride.

“She saw the draw gate at the paddock and tried to run off the track,” said the filly’s trainer, Linda Toscano. “Timmy tipped her and she bolted. Hopefully, it was a one-time occurrence.”

Come See The Show will start from post 4 in the eight-horse field.

Toscano trains Come See The Show for Richard Young and Joanne Young, who bred the filly and also campaigned Put On A Show. She said Come See The Show is scheduled to head to Lexington after the She’s A Great Lady, where she will compete before the Breeders Crown at Hoosier Park. — By Kathy Parker
